“ Whats right beneath your feet could soon be gone, in the flash of a light, you are out of sight. In an instant someone right over the other side of the wall, could soon be gone.
Listen to clues stay close to those in need, let the light shine thru the Darkness so that whats in the Dark can come to light,
Jesus i remember you when we were teens up against the wall rolling your eyes at me, talking some shit. You always had a great smile and Lovable eyes. I remember trying to get you to stay out with us all night, but you always said you had to go home, i knew you were a Scorpio and you had a Fuego persona, i new you were easy to Love but Hard to Get, i always thought you were a pretty boy tho, i know i didnt get to see you the other night when we were all talking about you, but im pretty sure that you saw me, and im glad you got to see me before you went to Heavin.. Im sorry i didnt take you with me and keep you safe, i will never forget you Jesus, i Love you

“ The last time I saw him he came by to say hi. Hadn't seen him in about a week. I said," you look very nice with your new haircut and silver chain." He said " yeah, I feel good today." He put his hand up to his head in a goofy way and we both broke out laughing.... I miss you little buddy.

“ He said "I love Oso, he understands me like no one else." I said with a smile," yeah I can see that."
